

Reception News Friday 16th March

Hello everyone.

This week we have been exploring ourselves, our life cycle and how we grow.

In our writing we wrote about things we could or couldn't do as a baby, things we can do now we're 4 and 5 and things we will be able to do when we grow up.

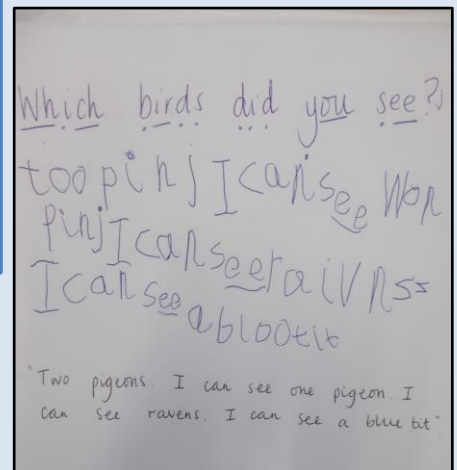

In maths we have been ordering people by age. We helped some friends decide who could go on the swing first by ordering them by age; youngest to oldest. We then helped a teacher put her children on to the coach in age order. Finally we helped a family decide who could open their Easter eggs first by ordering them by age, this time, oldest to youngest.

In preparation for our music concert, we have been busy making a barge from junk modelling and some sailor hats. These will accompany our class song – What do we do when the barge rolls in?

Please could you send hats, gloves and scarves every day 😊

Good Work

We celebrated Malachy's hard work in assembly today. He has been busy looking out for different birds visiting our garden. He has worked hard to record the birds he spotted! Well done 😊

House Points

Well done everyone!

Matthew – Annabelle

Mark – Mia

Luke – Molly

John – Kate

Lost property

We have lots of hairbands, clips, bobbles, gloves, toys, figures – general bits and bobs that we've collected over the year. Please feel free to come and claim 😊

Reminder

Please, please try to remember water bottles every day. As you can imagine, lots of spills happen when we use cups.

Show and Tell

We looked at two lovely creative pieces of work; a painting of a beach and a Queen's crown. We were excited for our friend who is going to see The Sound of Music performance tomorrow! We were inspired by a 'scratch and sketch' book; we're going to have a go at making our own scratch and sketch pictures next week! We looked at a special bear – what a lovely baptism gift. Finally, we enjoyed looking at our friend's photo of a huge bunch of brussel sprouts! We had lots of questions like "Where did you get them from?" and "Did you eat them all?" It was lovely to hear from some new friends today 😊 Have you ever took part in show and tell? Maybe give it a try next week!
