

Reception News – Friday 25th May

Hi everyone,

We found some giant underpants on Monday. We guessed they belonged to a dinosaur! After reading Dinosaurs Love Underpants by Claire Freedman and Ben Cort, it started to make sense. In the story it mentioned that the dinosaurs became extinct. We used the internet to research other extinct animals and then endangered animals. We were so shocked that there are only a few of those animals left in the world. We decided to find out what we can do to help.

To find out all about extinct and endangered animals we have been using the internet. Together we had a go at clicking on the internet icon on the interactive whiteboard and typing our questions into the search box on Google and YouTube.

In our maths this week, we have been working on reading and understanding subtraction number sentences. We are super mathematicians 😊

Have a wonderful and well-deserved half-term everyone!

Show and Tell

We said a big well done to Emily who achieved a certificate for her amazing dancing. Heidi told us all about the rhino and Asian elephant she adopted because they are endangered. She explained the difference between an African and Asian elephant! Alice showed us the rocket she made at home. Malachy brought his tooth to show us – he said it had fallen out yesterday. Niamh brought us some shells from a beach in Southport. She told us Southport is a long way from here. Jonathan told us all about a castle in Wales he had been to visit where he hunted for clues and completed the challenge. Jessica showed us some of her Disney World souvenirs. Alex told us the names of his dinosaurs. Lucas showed off his Liverpool jacket and told us he's watching the game at the weekend. Molly showed us the wonderful endangered animals book she had created at home. Annabelle showed us a photo of her cousin Niamh. Michael brought his grandad's bee keeping suit and one of the frames from his beehive. We wondered if maybe we could taste some of the honey? Someone suggested honey on toast for snack! 😊

See you all on Tuesday 5th June!
